Mails Will Move, Declares Hays as Rail Tieup Nears

(By Associated Press.) Washington.—The government, through its various departments, began Monday a survey of the situation as developed by the call of railroad union leaders for a general strike.

Officials, from President Harding down to departmental bureau chiefs and secret service agents, were watching the situation closely, hoping some means might be found for averting a paralysis of the nation's transportation system.

Postmaster General Hays, in the daily public statement issued up to noon, declared the "mails would move."

"I am sure the parties to the controversy will not permit developments which will interfere with government services," said Mr. Hays. "This is no time for statements from this department. A time may come for action. It goes, there will be action. The mails will move."

About 30,000 army trucks, most of them now in storage at corps area depots over the country, will be available for use in the event of a complete railroad tie-up, it was learned at the war department.

MANUFACTURERS PLAN TO WORK TOGETHER. Chicago.—The National Conference of State Manufacturers Associations on Monday, Monday, announced that the organization would furnish supplies, use their influence to see that public officials enforce the laws and sustain the railroads in their proposed reduction of wages. The telegram went to manufacturers' associations in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and eastern states.

Janesville Rail Men Mark Time, Await Outcome

News that the unions had called a strike on the afternoon of the country-wide Oct. 18, caused hardly more than a ripple among local railroad men Saturday. While there was considerable discussion Sunday and Monday, the men here are waiting for the outcome.

No orders have been received here yet. The only information which has come to the railroad men here has been gained through the press reports. It is expected that before the day of the strike, the chairman of the local grievance committee, will be called to Chicago for instructions. Until that time, the action here will be one of watchful waiting.

Both the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railways are among the first group to be called out. That will mean that unless orders to the contrary are issued all Janesville railroad men will walk out at 6:00 p. m. Oct. 18. Traffic out on the road at that time, however, will continue to the end of their runs.

GIRLS' PLANS FOR "FORTUNE" FOILED

Janesville Runaways Caught in Milwaukee—Brought Back Home.

Thirty-six hours is too short a time in which to build up a fortune in Milwaukee, according to two Janesville girls runaways who returned home Sunday morning with their parents, defeated in their first adventure away from home.

One of the girls made a brave start to make a fortune by hiring out to do housework at $2 per week. She was to have begun work Monday morning, but her father informed her erstwhile employer that he had other plans for the youngster.

The other girl has ambitions to be a soloist of some note and sought Milwaukee as a place to acquire training. Following her detention by Milwaukee police Sunday morning, she was taken home. She was told to take vocal lessons, she was called upon for a solo in contralto voice. She responded by singing "Margie" and "I said the butly desis" and was highly pleased with her recital.

"I know financial conditions at home are not as bright as they might be and I thought I could help out by supporting myself," the younger girl told her father when he reached Milwaukee Sunday afternoon.

"Never mind about that—we'll come out to make you all right," he said. "I want you to come back home and go to school."

The two girls, 14 and 15, left home Friday night one of them telling her father to let her know when he had aspirations to obtain a fortune. They spent Saturday night at the shop of a tailor who is a friend of the younger girl's father; it was learned.

Few Stills Here Says Dougherty

"Janesville is the cleanest city in Wisconsin when it comes to manufacture of illicit liquor," declared William H. Dougherty, United States attorney for the western Wisconsin district, Monday.

The United States attorney based this declaration on information furnished by federal agents and investigators and from evidence submitted in the liquor cases prosecuted. Attorney Dougherty made no attempt to whitewash the city in liquor violations, nor did he assert that there were no violations here.

May Be Consumed. "Information furnished to me and my own observation indicates there is little of the so-called moonshine industry here. I would say there is less here than in any other city in Wisconsin," he said. "The point is that this liquor is not made here but brought in somehow."

The government seeks to clean house in the western Wisconsin district and cooperate fully with the state and municipal authorities in combating the moonshine evil.

"PROTECT BERLIN" PICKENS IS GIVEN PROPOSAL KILLED

UPPER HOUSE OVERWHELMED DEMOCRAT AMENDMENT TO PACT.

WASHINGTON.—The first senate roll call on the German peace treaty was taken Monday and resulted in a 71 to 27 rejection of the first amendment offered—a proposal by Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, to have the United States join the other powers in a pledge to protect Germany against unwarranted invasion.

The senate also rejected, 62 to 36, a second amendment proposed by Walsh, proposing that the United States would use its good offices in the event of a wanton attack on Germany.

Republicans and a large majority of the democrats opposed the first Walsh amendment, the first attempt to amend the treaty. The seven supporters of the amendment, all democrats, were Culberson, Texas; Glass, Virginia; Ellchcock, Nebraska; King, Utah; Overman, and Simmons, North Carolina, and Walsh, Montana.

Pershing Lays Medal on Grave of British Hero

LONDON.—The British government Monday decided to award the Victoria Cross, the highest British award, to American unknown warrior.

London.—Upon the simply inscribed slab in Westminster Abbey, which marks the tomb of George "British Bulldog" Pitt Rivers, was laid Monday the highest decoration within the gift of the American people. It was the medal of honor voted by the congress of the United States in recognition of the valorous action of the unknown warrior who died in the defense of the United States and Great Britain in the world war.

The official presentation was made by George H. Harbo, American ambassador, who delivered a brief address. The act of bestowing the medal was performed by General J. P. Pershing.

Pershing marked the event, there being only a brief choral service provided for the presentation and bestowal of the medal, which was witnessed by a distinguished assembly.

WASHINGTON.—A sharp clash between William J. Simmons, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, and Chairman Campbell, of the house rules committee, marked the re-opening Monday of the wizard's examination, when the Klan head touched on the question of his physical collapse last week.

Simmons declared that Assistant Attorney General Clegg remarked at the time:

"Damn such fakery. I've been expecting it all along."

"That Mr. Clegg and Chairman Campbell, had said it was 'cheap theatricals, intended to create sympathy.'"

Parties in Suit Are Ordered Back Before Referee

Chicago.—Mrs. Edith Stubbs Parker, wife of Harrison Parker, head of the Cooperative Society of America, who has been sought for several days for questioning in connection with receivership proceedings against society, is in Canada, it was learned Monday.

When Judge Evans resumed the investigation in federal court, James Hamilton Lewis, former United States senator, appeared with a telegram from Mrs. Parker, dated Toronto, Sunday.

Mrs. Parker, who was treasurer of another of the Parker organizations, is supposed to have $2,000,000 in Liberty bonds belonging to the Cooperative society in her possession.

Saying he did not think there would be further trouble about locating the whereabouts of the assets of the Cooperative Society of America, Federal Judge Evans on Monday ordered parties in the suit to go back before the referee in bankruptcy.

The shortage of $117,000 in the society's affairs, which Mr. Parker said Saturday he had found, he explained was due chiefly to two payments aggregating $100,000 to the American Federation of Labor, not being recorded. The balance, he said, he made up with the aid of his wife.

NEW YORK.—A fleet of 57,000 motor trucks, or as many as become necessary, will be mobilized, in the event of a protracted general railroad strike, to bring New York its daily quota of 1,500 carloads of foodstuffs, it was learned Monday.

There are adequate food supplies, he said, for three weeks but importation of milk by trucks would have to begin at once.

The critical situation, he said, was less favorable.

Council in Regular Session Tonight to Hear Ordinance.

With the big task of making up the 1922 budget at $10,000,000, the city councilmen at their meeting Monday night are expected to take up further action on the proposed ordinance to bond the city.

The ordinance, which would authorize the city to issue bonds to complete the new high school. The long ordinance has been drawn up by City Attorney Roger G. Cunningham and a draft of it will be read to the council, Monday night.

Few other matters of importance are on the docket, the belief being that it will be a quiet session.

Proposed to be spread on St. Mary's avenue and Walker street, from Milton avenue to Prairie avenue, will be heard together with a suggestion that curb and gutter be laid on the street from Racine to South Third street.

City Clerk E. J. Sartell received word Monday that copies of the new charter combining old and new provisions will be available soon at $1.50 per copy. The volume will contain the general city charter, commission government for cities, city manager plan, general municipal laws, principal borrowing and bonding laws. The matter as to how many the city shall purchase will be taken up with the council.

Citizens desiring to secure the proposed ordinance may secure the ordinance of public property, Madison.

TRYING TO STOP GREAT RAIL STRIKE

Affect every section of the country, but hits the east the hardest, the section of the country left practically untouched on the first day. The second group "walkout" will come at 6 a. m. local standard time, Nov. 2. The official list of roads in group 2 follows:

New York, New Haven and Hartford, Delaware and Hudson, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, St. Louis and San Francisco, Louisville and Nashville, Nickel Plate, Erie, Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast line, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Lehigh Valley and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis.

Big Roads in Third.
Three of the remaining largest roads in the country are included in the third group, on which the strike is set for 6 a. m. local standard time Nov. 3. The entire Burlington system, the New York Central lines, east and west, and the entire system of the Baltimore and Ohio are among those which will feel the strike blow Nov. 3. The balance of the third and the fourth groups include the remaining roads in the country.

RATE DROP PROPOSAL.
NOT FEASIBLE—STONE

Cleveland.—The proposal of the public group of the railroad labor board to reduce freight rates to prevent a railroad strike would not prove feasible, Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers, declared Monday. "The suggestion cannot be worked out," Mr. Stone said, "the time the reduction put to the consumer, it would not amount to one-half of one percent. The middlemen would absorb all of the difference."

Lee Is Reluctant.
W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, would make no direct statement Monday on the feasibility of the plan.

"Our understanding and, I believe, that of the public also, was that the 12 per cent wage reduction of last July would be passed on to the public," Mr. Lee said.

Canadian railroads will not be affected by the strike, on lines in the United States, according to Mr. Lee. Only last week, he said, the wage dispute on the Canadian roads had been amicably settled.

Neither will the Southern Pacific lines in Mexico be affected, Mr. Lee said, as the lines there are not organized.

INTEREST CENTERS IN PROPOSAL OF PUBLIC

Washington.—Official Washington's interest in the impending national railway strike centered Monday in the reaction of railway executives and labor leaders to the proposal of the public group of the railroad labor board to prevent tie-up of the country's transportation system.

In brief, the board proposed: 1.—That the railroads be immediately put into effect freight reductions equivalent to the wage reductions authorized last July.

2.—That requests for further wage decreases be withdrawn until the board on any request for further wage reductions which the carriers subsequently might file.

3.—That the carriers withdraw their strike order, pending action of the board on any request for further wage reductions which the carriers subsequently might file.

Federal action in connection with the strike had been confined up to Monday to the conferences arranged by President Harding, between the public group of the labor board and

Denning Plans Basket Team This Winter

Janesville will have a semi-pro basketball team this year. The statement was made by Joe Denning, Monday morning, former manager of the Lakeland Cardinals, that he is making arrangements with Mace & Tatman, present operators of the rink, to put a team in the field this winter.

It is expected that the rink will be reopened to the public next Saturday after several years use as a garage. The basketball season will probably start about the last part of November.

Such men as Clarence McIntosh of the University of Wisconsin, Eddie Kars, former Lakeland player, Mike Tifield, local star; Halley of Madison and Young of Milwaukee are expected to be in the lineup. With a real playing floor it is believed that the game will once more be on a big footing here.

The Interstate Commerce commission, the impression being that the president intended to leave the matter temporarily in the hands of the two agencies, created by law to supervise railroad transportation.

Will Report to Cabinet.
There was some expectation, however, of a statement from Postmaster General Hays in reply to the announcement that mail trains would not be given special consideration in case the strike developed.

Both Mr. Hays and Attorney General Daugherty have been busy, it was learned, in surveying the situation generally with a view to laying reports before the cabinet at the regular meeting Tuesday. Mr. Daugherty's report would cover the authority of the federal government, it was said, and the proper procedure to be followed if a decision was reached to utilize the power of the government directly in the controversy, while that of Mr. Hays was to outline a tentative plan for the maintenance of operation of mail trains.

Chicago.—No immediate action in the case of Babe Ruth will be taken by Judge Landis, the baseball commissioner said upon his arrival here Monday from New York.

He has a number of things to attend to before the matter of the great swatter's defiance of his order concerning exhibition games, the judge said.

In the meantime, said the judge, "law abiding baseball players need have no fear that the law will not be enforced. The law of gravitation still is in force and what goes up is bound to come down."

Will Enforce Law.
Chicago.—No immediate action in the case of Babe Ruth will be taken by Judge Landis, the baseball commissioner said upon his arrival here Monday from New York.

He has a number of things to attend to before the matter of the great swatter's defiance of his order concerning exhibition games, the judge said.

In the meantime, said the judge, "law abiding baseball players need have no fear that the law will not be enforced. The law of gravitation still is in force and what goes up is bound to come down."

LANDIS REGARDS RUTH'S ACTION AS DIRECT CHALLENGE

New York.—"Babe" Ruth, slugging star of the New York Yankees, has precipitated what Federal Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner described as a test to determine "who is the biggest man in baseball—the commissioner, or the player who makes the most home runs."

Ruth, with Bob Meusel and Bill Piercy of the Yankees, played in an exhibition baseball game at Buffalo Sunday in defiance of a formal warning from Judge Landis, who ruled prohibiting world's series contestants from appearing in exhibition games prior to the opening of the next big league season, would be enforced, Ruth moreover announced.

The commissioner, was on his way to Chicago Monday, having left New York late Sunday night, before word was received that Ruth had taken part in the game. He refused to indicate what action he would take in the event Ruth played, further than to say that he would regard the case as a direct challenge of his authority.

Badger Secret Practice Beats Purple, 27 to 0

Madison.—Wisconsin came through with her first conference victory in line shape. The weeks secret practice worked wonders and the new line charged as a unit at all times. Not once during the entire game was Northwestern able to make first down. Its line was far too slow to stop the powerful attack of Wisconsin's star backfield. Another deciding factor was the good success of Wisconsin's forward pass plays. Gibson's work at shooting passes is up to conference standards.

Rowley Elliott, Rollie Williams, Gibson, Gould, Sundt and Bunge were stars of the day. Elliott made three of the touchdowns. Each of these were made by short line plunges after the ball had been worked down the field by a varied attack. Rollie Williams made more gains than anyone else. He could always be counted on when a nice pass was needed. He passed to Gould for the first touchdown.

Fumbling and frequent penalties were all that saved Northwestern from being snowed under. Both Sundt and Williams fumbled the ball when they were a few yards from a touchdown. Elliott fumbled once when he was making a touchdown but he recovered it. The poor punting of Northwestern enabled Sundt to gain about 20 yards on each exchange. Wisconsin now has a line of giants with the exception of Tebbel. Wisconsin will have a week

PICKED UP AT THE DEDICATION

John Spencer, 93, of Edgerton, was the oldest mason attending the dedication ceremonies in Edgerton on Saturday.

C. J. Hendricks, former Janesville attorney, now practicing in Milwaukee, attended the exercises. He received friendship with many of the Janesville delegation.

The new temple was inspected by at least 4,000 people during the morning and afternoon. All spoke praise for the interior decorations and equipment.

There was a special train from Milwaukee with the Shrine patrol of 72 members.

Edgerton children are willing to believe masons the "best fellows in the world." The Tripoli guard patrol took children in charge for flits and then the "penny scramble."

There were 38 Knight Templars from Janesville in the parade in full uniform and there were 32 from the Chicago Parkway lodge.

Little "Abie" was the town hero on Saturday among the juveniles. He had a pocket full of coins.

There were masonic lodges from Portage, Kilmoryn, Beaver Dam, Watertown, Platteville, Milton Junction, Beloit, Rockford, Cambridge, Deersfield, Madison, St. Albans, Columbus, Oregon and Prairie du Chien represented by delegations. In addition to Chicago, Milwaukee, and Janesville.

The Masonic home without a "fault" was dedicated to the sacred ideals of the order in ceremony long to be remembered by Edgerton.

LEWIS TALKS ON WOMEN'S RELIGION

Rev. F. F. Lewis devoted his sermon Sunday to the necessary qualifications in a woman's religion and emphasized four principles. He said that religion must include mysticism and wonder. JANESVILLE ANSWERS CALL OF AUTUMN

Autumn in all its grandeur called Sunday and Janesville responded. With the sun shining, which is an event nowadays, and the temperature around 70, the weather was ideal for an outing.

The roads leading from Janesville were filled with a steady stream of motorists.

Favorite fishing spots, in Rock county and vicinity were swarmed with fishing parties. Early Sunday morning fishermen had taken up their post on the Catfish river at Indian Ford, and on Rock river at Newville. There were many picnic parties.

television parade, led by the Tripoli band. The Tripoli patrol followed, and then the commandary lodges from Janesville, the Robert McCoy commandery, Milwaukee, and those from Delavan and Watertown in full uniform. The blue lodges followed, representing all masonic orders in Southern Wisconsin.

They formed a guard for the grand officers attending, who included W. F. Weiler, Chippewa Falls, grand master, Otto Burmeister, Middleton, grand junior deacon, John Corcoran, Madison, grand treasurer and Dr. William Smith, Beloit, grand chaplain. The past grand masters attending were Charles E. Whelan, C. E. Shafer, and John Corcoran, Madison.

During the evening there was third degree work by the Parkway lodge of Chicago, witnessed by more than 1000 masons. There were 400 attending the dedication from Janesville.

There was a concert in the afternoon by the Edgerton concert band. Just before the drill the Tripoli patrol scattered coins to the Edgerton youngsters in a grand street melee. 100 or more youths took part in the wild scramble. Then "Abie" Robensky, Edgerton, juvenile leader and mascot, led in cheers. "Abie" was a wealthy youngster when the Masons let him go to peddle papers.

With true masonic spirit the Shriners took a collection for one unfortunate youth.

The dedication services were thoroughly enjoyed by the members for old friendships were renewed by the score. Splendid arrangements were made by the Edgerton committee for the entertainment and comfort of the visitors. Lunch and dinner was served in the temple, churches and in the high school.

Praise was given for the new temple, visitors declaring it the best in the state, size being considered. There were more than 300 women present, wives of the visiting members. All Edgerton greeted their

CHAPTER I.
CONSOLATION

In one thing Win was faithful that summer. He put aside every possible cent of money toward paying his mother back for what she had advanced. Our country expenses were trifling, even with the guests we had. I had sold my car—that saved money. Hire and gasoline and repairs, three items that had eaten into our bank account. Having no maid, we were saved that; food in the country was cheap and we had an inexpensive table. This was partly because I was an amateur housekeeper, and partly because I was avoiding work in order to gain health again.

As the weeks passed, I watched our account grow, and was pleased at that, at least. By October we would be clear of that monster. Debt, which was something I had learned to dread during the winter. Then there was always the chance that Winthrop would bring in a new client to his firm, in which case he would earn an extra commission.

The days fell into a lazy routine, a pleasant one to me. A bored and restless in almost perfect silence, and Win took the bus to the train. My household duties and the baby, which gained weight and prettiness from day to day, took many hours. Sometimes I varied my routine, by leaving Connie at a neighbor's and then going down to the Sound for a swim.

In spite of my unhappiness and uneasiness, I was improving in health. I ate well and slept well, the tired drawn lines had long since disappeared and my skin had the warm pink glow that caused me to be called beautiful.

One of the things I liked best was to walk in a pelting rain. I had a lot of old clothes for this and a waterproof coat and cap. One afternoon when I came in from such a tramp the cold rain had been beating in my face for an hour, I had tramped to the shore and back, and my whole body was glowing from the air and the exercise.

Colin was with us that week. He stayed in and was making some pen and ink sketches for a magazine article.

"I built you a fire in the fireplace," he said as he looked up. "Take on these, wip, thinking, and sit in the armchair there. I'm going to make tea for us."

"How good you are," I answered, as he brought me a cup of the hot drink. "I feel wonderful after that walk! This tea is just the thing."

"You look wonderful!" he told me, taking—as he usually did—his comfortable little chair on the other side of the hearth. "What a skin you have! I can match its color with my pigments, but there's not an artistic can paint the quality of your complexion—or the quality of blue in your eyes. It's not the shade, you know. It's quality."

"I know!" I had heard Colin's favorite topic before. "Not even Corot could give the illuminating quality of the rain, and mist as I saw it over the valley—by the way, where is Win? His train is in. There goes the station bus to the house!" Colin looked uncomfortable. Then he stammered: "The truth is, Connie, he phoned an hour ago—I had to run over to the farmhouse to get his message. 'Yes, I talked to him,' as it looked up suddenly, 'he says he isn't coming up tonight.'"

"But—" I could not finish for bewilderment. It was so surprising and so embarrassing too. For here was Colin, a guest in our house! Colin was the sweetest person in the world—but there was no reason for Win to put me in the uncomfortable position of being there with him—

"It's as awkward for me as for you," Colin broke in on my thoughts. "I could always arrange to have some one stay with you. I ended matters by bribing the farmer's wife to come over for the night. Of course," he added, smiling whimsically, "I might run off with you between now and the time she comes, but her coming makes it all right and does away with scandal."

"How dreadful of Win!" I burst out suddenly. "I suppose Gwen is in town—that's usually the reason why he doesn't come home."

"No, it's not Gwen. She is in Bar Harbor, as I happen to know. It's only the weather. He hates rain and drizzle; in the city he can forget it in clubs and taxis and hotels. Here he has to face it, see it, walk in it, he doesn't gain a wonderful complexion by that, as you do."

"Did he say the weather depressed him so he couldn't come home? How ridiculous!" I burst out.

"Temperament is always ridiculous—to others," Colin answered. "Poor Win actually does suffer out here. Let him stay in. He'll go to a show and feel better, and come back tomorrow in good spirits."

"Do let the weather affect him so he could do something so ridiculous!" I am honored at this trust in me, leaving you to my protection," said Colin.

My anger melted. Colin always had that effect on me. He was so gentle, so forgiving, so eternally sympathetic. I looked at him again. He was hunched up as usual, his shoulders so round as to make him seem deformed. His thick red hair, rather an ugly red, made his large head so much larger than it was all out of proportion. His face was homely, his skin blotched with freckles and shadow from a life indoors. His hands, thin, sensitive, artistic though they were, were also too large for him and only added to the grotesque effect.

Poor ugly, beautiful Colin! For one instant I loved him with all my heart, for one moment, with all my gratitude for his sweetness and his understanding. He turned and smiled gently at me.

SOUTH SEA ISLANDER WHO WAS

CROOK'S FAVORITE SCOUT

"I would rather lose a third of my army than to have Frank Guard killed," once declared Gen. Frank Crook, and when this great Indian fighter set such a high value on the services of a scout, it meant that Frank Guard was without a peer. Guard was born in Tahiti in 1869, the son of an American trader and a native woman. His father returned to this country when Frank was but two years old and at the age of 15 Frank ran away from home and went to Montana.

Guard became a mail carrier, a dangerous job in a country full of hostile Sioux. They captured him finally and were preparing to kill him when a young brave pleaded for his life. Calling their attention to Frank's swarthy complexion he declared that the mail carrier must be an Indian who had been captured by the whites.

This Indian was the renowned Sitting Bull. For 18 months Guard was guarded closely and, realizing the uselessness of attempting to escape, he learned the Sioux tongue and entered into the Indian life as one of them. He lived with the Indians six years before he finally escaped.

One day Guard was scouting for an officer who attempted to guide his command by use of the compass. They became lost in a blinding snow storm. Frank borrowed the officer's compass, smashed it against a rock, and then, taking the lead, he guided the soldiers straight to the place they wished to go.

Guard's greatest exploit was his part in the "Sibley Scout" in 1876. Lieut. S. W. Sibley was sent out on a scout to find the Indians. He found them, and in a short time his little command was surrounded by hundreds of Sioux and Cheyennes. After a desperate fight in which the Cheyenne chief, White Arrow, was killed, the soldiers were forced to abandon their horses and attempt escape on foot.

Guard's knowledge of the country was all that saved them. He led them over unknown mountain trails, winding through the deep canyons and around high peaks, until the Indians were outdistanced. The next day he guided them to a high point on a mountain side and pointed down. Below them lay Crook's camp.

Frank Guard was given a lifetime position as a government scout and he performed valuable services in the last uprising of the Sioux, the Ghost Dance war of 1890-91. In 1894 Frank saw his father for the first time since he had run away from home. Guard died in St. Joseph, Mo., in 1913.
